Thursdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Moe and the early money for the 1st 3 races is Good and there are some very good chances engaged here early so prospects are decent here with races 4 onward's the early money is Good and again there are some very strong chances engaged on this card so there is plenty of open potential here today so quite keen. Wagga and the early money for this entire meeting is Good and there is value here today but that also means luck will be needed but there is potential just take it as steady as she goes though. Rockhampton and the early money for the 1st 3 races is Good and there are some decent chances involved here early but it is rockhampton so tread a little bit cautiously with races 4 onward's the early money is OK to Good and to be fair there are some decent chances but I am always wary of rockhampton so tread a little cautiously as well. And finally Belmont and the early money is Low so take this meeting on trust so hopeful but not 100% confident.

Thursdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Hawkesbury and the early money for the 1st 3 races is Low but even so these races do not look difficult so hopefully it will simply be a good start to this meeting with races 4 onward's the early money is Good and there are some positive chances engaged in these races so it is a meeting with a little interest. Coffs Harbour and the early money for the 1st 3 races is Fair with race 1 looking pretty predictable with a question mark on race 2 as this one looks open and luck will be needed and race 3 looks predictable but a little tricky at the same time with races 4 onward's the early money is Good and these look like predictable races with a bit of value mixed in so quite keen on this program at this time and it will be interesting to see what happens. Rockhampton and the early money for the 1st 3 races is barely OK but the favored runners do look the best chances here early and I really don't think there will be many surprises here with races 4 onward's the early money is OK and these races look reasonable but a little bit of luck is going to be needed so hopeful but cautious here today. Pakenham and the early money for the 1st 3 races is Good and these races look pretty much predictable so hopefully we can get off to a good start here today with races 4 onward's the early money is Good and there are plenty of solid chances engaged so this meeting does have a little interest. And finally Northam and the early money is Low so the best advice I can give is to take this meeting on trust using some caution.

Thursdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Kembla Grange and the early money for the 1st 2 races is OK and race 1 looks to be fought out between the favored runners with race 2 looking really obvious unless something really goes wrong with race 3 the early money is OK and again this looks to be favored runners race so no real surprises hopefully with races 4 onward's the early money is OK and there are possibilities with today's card with a little luck required so hopeful but a little cautious at the same time. Grafton and the early money for the 1st race is strong and this race looks to be fought out between the favored runners so no surprises suggested here with race 2 the early money is strong and again favored results is expected so again a prediction for no real surprises with race 3 the early money is very good and this does look a predictable race with the right luck with races 4 onward's the early money is strong and there does look to be real potential with this card so hopeful of the best today. Sale and the early money for the 1st 3 races is strong and the 1st 3 races looks predictable and do offer value but a little luck is needed and race 3 looks fairly well predictable unless something horrible goes wrong with races 4 onward's the early money is good and there is real hope with these later races with value between the lines so very hopeful with just a note of caution. Dalby and the early money for the 1st 3 races is Low so take these races on trust races 4 onward's the early money is Low so again take these races on trust. And finally Pinjarra and the early money is Low so the best advice I can give is to take this meeting on trust using some certain level of caution moving forward.

Thursdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Pakenham and the early money for the 1st 3 races is good and these are hurdles races to start off the day but it is really hard to go past the favored runners here early as they honestly do look like the best chances so I am predicting a good start to the day at Pakenham with races 4 onward's the early money is strong and these are open races stacked with value so a little luck will be needed to navigate them successfully but these races will be worth watching. Townsville and the early money for the 1st 3 races is strong and punters are pointing straight towards a good start to the day and I hope they are right so viewing these early races with some sense of confidence with races 4 onward's the early money is strong and punters seem to be shopping for value and this reflects in today's selections so they are open races but hopefully winning ones with the right luck. And finally Pinjarra and the early money for the 1st 3 races is soft but the favored runners do really look like the best option here early with races 4 onward's the early money is soft and a touch of good luck is going to be needed so move forward with some caution with these races.

Thursdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Gatton and the early money for the 1st 3 races is low with races 1 and 3 looking to be well open and with race 2 being the most predictable with races 4 onward's the day looks interesting and has some potential so hopeful but a little cautious moving forward as well. Warrnambool and the early money for the 1st 3 races is just OK at best with these races looking to be well open so not certain early and hoping for a little luck with races 4 onward's the early money is good and there does look to be potential value with these races as punters are shopping early for value so hopeful of some decent results today. Hawkesbury and the early money for the 1st 3 races is low with the 1st 2 races being somewhat open and race 3 being the most predictable with races 4 onward's the early money is OK and there does look to be a little potential and possible value reading in-between the lines so play a little cautiously and the day should be OK. And finally Northam and the early money is low but there are a lot of short priced chances running today which have real hopes so there are possibilities of a good day in the making for this meeting.

Thursdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Sale and the early money is just OK for the 1st 7 races and there is solid support for the last 2 races and overall there does look to be opportunity on this card and there is value in the selections so I am hopeful. Gosford and the early money is low so I would take this program on trust so hopeful as always but a little cautious at the same time. Coffs Harbour and the early money is low but on the upside there are quite a few nice priced favorites on this program that really should win so there may be hope here. Pt Augusta and the early betting interest is OK so this meeting may surprise today with a little bit of the right luck. Mackay and the early money is just OK and Mackay can generally be tricky to play so a little bit of careful caution may be advised. And finally Pinjarra and the early betting interest is low but there are quite a few good chances on today's program mixed in with races which are much more open so it is careful as you go with some hope included.

Thursdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Ballarat and the early betting interest is good and punters seem to be flowing towards value and this reflects in today's selections for this meeting so optimistic and hopeful. Wyong and the early money is slow so I would keep a closer eye on the results then normal to see if any betting patterns emerge so hopeful but a little bit cautious at the same time. Dalby and the early money is soft so I would place close attention to the results so I am hopeful as always but I would tread a little carefully. And finally Wellington and the early betting interest is soft but I would not dismiss this meeting as it has potential so I am just hoping that it lives up to it today.

Thursdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Gosford and in the 1st 4 races the early betting money is low but even so I don't think these races will see many upsets with the main hopes I predict to prove successful and with Gosford races 5 onward's the early money is again just OK but on the upside I again don't envisage any long priced winners as this meeting really should be overall a short priced runners day. Pakenham and the early money is OK and punters seem to be pointing towards some value today and time would tell so I would watch the results for any betting patterns which may occur then go forward from there so optimistic but a little cautious at the same time. Townsville and the early betting interest is not strong and I am not that confident today so I would use needed caution if touching this meeting just to be on the safe side. And finally Northam and the early money is low but there really are a lot of favored runners which should be winning so there is an upside to this meeting.

Thursdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Hawkesbury and the early money for the 1st 4 races is low so take on trust and watch the results carefully see if any betting patterns occur but as always I am optimistic and hopeful of the best but use a certain degree of caution, with Hawkesbury races 5 onward's the early money is good and I am quite optimistic about the selections for these races with a certain emphasis towards the top selections. Echuca and the early betting money for the 1st 4 races is good and I am more than happy with the selections with a real pointers toward's the favorites doing well early, the last 4 traces at Echuca and the early money is solid and happy with the selections but we will have to wait and see so optimistic of success but some luck is always needed as usual. Townsville and the early money is OK so there is some interest in today's meeting so overall I am more than happy with today's tips but Townsville always needs some degree of caution so watch the results and move forward from there. Pinjarra and the early money and betting interest is low so take this meeting on trust although on the upside there quite a lot of short priced runners which really should win. And finally Pakenham and the early betting interest is good and there is possible value on tonight's card if the money is right and hopefully the luck will run our way so optimistic of some decent results.

Total Cost: $13 buys a 5% share of the dividend.

Thursdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Warrnambool and the 1st 3 races are really light on early money but they do look straightforward and I don't think there will be any unnecessary surprises with races 4 onward's the early money is strong and there is a strong prediction that it may well be a favorites day with some value for exotics player within the selection given so overall I feel there is bright prospects with for this meeting with just a touch of luck needed hopefully. Gatton and the early money is really lacking but the meeting does give a general whiff that it should really be a favorites day so watch the results and go forward from there. Wyong and Wagga and the early betting interest is fairly low so some degree of careful optimism may be required. And finally Pinjarra and the early interest is pretty dim but on paper it does look to be a win bet players ideal day anyway watch the results and go from there.

Thursdays Predicted Betting Outlook: Kembla Grange and the early money is predictably light as is normal for kembla but in saying that it does look like it will be a short priced runners day with not that many surprises, but the hard part is going to be finding value so you might have to add a little hope and look in-between the lines to try and dig out some value if you like the exotics bets however if you like straight win bets then this meeting might have bright prospects for you and time will tell. Kimore and the early money is just OK but it is predictable coming off a public holiday that the early money would be slow to flow however the day does look like it could bring some promise but as always watch the results to see if any betting patterns occur but generally I am happy with this meeting so I am fairly confident of some good outcomes touch wood for luck. Cairns and the early money is just OK but what money there is all points towards a favorites day so win bet players may well be suited by this meeting with exotics players trying to shop for a bit of hidden value so the meeting overall has promise on paper so let's hope it turns out that way. Albany and there is no early money around so take care with this meeting and watch the results carefully. And finally Pakenham, and the early money is pretty light which seems to be the general theme of the day but it will be a night of short priced winners for almost certain so try and find value in between the lines that is if value can be found.

Thursdays Predicted Betting Outlook: Werribee and the early money is good and I think punters have there eye on the prize at this meeting with early races being supported well for the favorite runners and the later races more open to value and people are prepared to put there money on early today which is a good sign for werribee's chances. Wyong and the action with the earrly money begins in race 4 so watch the results and go forward from there but the meeting does look to have some promise. Townsville and the early money is a little light but what money there is all is pointed towards the favored runners today so keep an eye on the results and bet forward from there. Coffs Harbour and there is very little early money interest in this meeting so watch the results and be a little cautious. Pinjarra and there is little early money interest but I am still predicting a favored runners day but still watch the results closely and go from there. And finally Pakenham and the early money is good and quite keen on tonight's selections so hopeful of a decent night but as always keep an eye on the results and go forward from there.

Thursdays Predicted Betting Outlook: Kilmore looks OK and steady as she goes and I think I can predict there won't be too many unusual outcomes there today. Wyong looks OK early with enough early betting money to suggest interest and I feel it is a meeting with out too many upsets on the cards. Mackay is another meeting which I doubt will pose too many shocks as it may well be a favorite based runners day with the early money suggesting this is likely. Albany and not much is happening here early money wise so watch the results and bet from there with some caution. Pakenham and the early money is OK and it does look like a fine night so fingers are crossed with some sense of hopeful confidence.

Thursdays Predicted Betting Outlook: Dalby and the money is fair early sometimes these country meetings can be hard to predict at an early glance so watch the results and go from there. Benalla and the early money is good and it does look like an OK meeting which could either go great or go poor so time will tell so again pay a close attention to the results. Hawkesbury and the early money is not exciting and low but there are a lot of short priced runners engaged so I would not expect to many dramas with this meeting. Geraldton is really light early so be careful with this meeting and watch the result to gauge possible outcomes. Pakenham and the early money is strong so that may be a pointer to a decent tonight.
