Tuesdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Kyneton and the early betting money surrounding this meeting is Good which is quite surprising for a Tuesday so there might be hopes with this program with the right luck and today is a real mix of solid short priced chances and then those races offering more value in the selections especially for exotics players so it will be interesting to see how the day unfolds. And Newcastle and this meeting is also attracting a really good amount of early betting support for a Tuesday and to be fair there does look to be some really good chances on today's program so I am remaining hopeful for our chances here today so my fingers are crossed for luck.

Tuesdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Warracknabeal and the early money for the 1st 3 races is OK and these races look pretty much predictable so hopeful for the best here today early with races 4 onward's the early money is OK and there are some good chances engaged so the afternoon has potential here. Gosford and the early money for the 1st 3 races is OK and there are some strong chances engaged here early so hopeful with races 4 onwards' the early money is Good and again there are some strong chances engaged so it may well be an interesting afternoon. Geelong and the early money for the 1st 3 races is Good and there are very strong prospects engaged here so a good but short priced start to the day with races 4 onward's the early money is Good and again there some strong prospects engaged in these races so hopeful here today. Lismore and the early money for the 1st 3 races is OK and these races look predictable but some luck will be needed so play carefully here early with races 4 onward's the early money is Low so I would recommend treading carefully at this program this afternoon. Mackay and the early money for the 1st 3 races is Low but despite this there are some good chances engaged here early but I would treat these races a little cautiously with races 4 onward's the early money is just OK and again there are some good chances and a little value as well but I would advise some caution here today so hopeful but cautious. And finally Broome and the early money for this meeting is Low so the best advice I can give is to take this meeting on trust with caution required.

The Top 5 Suggested Bets below are the best bets of the day I think are of the best value and they are put there with the absolute clear intention that they will win, but if this happens or not is up to the laws of chance and the elements of luck & fate.

1. Special Suggested Bets Of The Day:

Albury Race 1 Banker Exacta:

5 / 4, 1, 12

So its 5 for 1st

Albury Race 2 No 7 Sam at $41.00 and there is just a little bit of money for this one early at the long odds so might be worth a place ticket at the $9.00 currently on offer but I would only make it a small bet as an interest.

Tuesdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Geelong and the early money for the 1st 3 races is Good and race 1 looks pretty much predictable with race 2 looking almost certain and race 3 is predictable but a little luck will be needed for this one with race 4 onward's the early money is Good and all these races are rated as predictable so hopefully it will be a comfortable afternoon with the right luck in running. Albury and the early money for the 1st race is OK and this race looks pretty certain with race 2 the early money is OK and you would have to suggest that 1 of the 2 favored runners should really win here with race 3 the early money is Low but the favored runners should really prevail here but which one will win that's the question with races 4 onward's the early money is Low so caution is advised for these races so hopeful but not completely confident. Newcastle and the early money for the 1st 3 races is Light but on the upside these races do look predictable but a little luck may be needed as the early money provides no real sense of confidence with races 4 onward's the early money is Good and there does look to be value here so these races might be worth watching. Mackay and the early money for the 1st race is just OK and this race will be between the favored runners but which one will win with races 2 & 3 the early money is Low but even so they look predictable but an element of luck will be needed with races 4 onward's the early money is OK and these races look to be predictable so hopeful of some decent results.

Tuesdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Gosford and the early money for the 1st 5 races is light so it might be wise to tread wary early here today with races 6 onward's the early money is light so again a little caution might be required to navigate this meeting successfully. Geelong and the early money for race 1 is soft and races 2 & 3 are strong so they may offer better chances and value with races 4 onward's the early money is good and there do look to be some strong chances engaged today so it will be a game of wait and see but with the right luck it will hopefully prove a successful day. Corowa and the early money for the 1st 3 races is OK and quite surprisingly I feel these 1st 3 races offer good chances for the top picks so it may well be a good start to the day at this program with just the right luck with races 4 onward's the early money is OK and it a mix of open races and strong chances so again it may be a game of wait and see but there is some promise with a meeting you might not normally touch so it may surprise with the right amount of luck needed.

Tuesdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Pakenham and the early money for the 1st 3 races is strong and they are open races so hopeful of the best for a good start to the day with just a hint of reservation with races 4 onward's the early money is strong and there does look to be some very good prospects on today's card so will be watching these races a little closely with some sense of confidence. Nowra and the early money for the 1st 3 races is low although on the upside the favored runners do look to have the best chances in these races but I do still have some reservations so watch with some caution with races 4 onward's the early money is low but the top selections look to be the best chances so some hope of a decent day. Tamworth and the early money for the 1st 3 races is moderate but on the upside it is really hard to see many upsets early so it may well be a good start at Tamworth today with races 4 onward's the early money is OK and there does seem to be some value in these races so they may well be worth watching a little more closely so hopes are high. Tuesdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Pakenham and the money for the 1st 3 races is good and punters look to be chancing there arm early and this can be either a great thing or just the case of some poor decisions hopefully the early money is right and time will tell but I would advise a little caution early with races 4 onward's the early money is good and I don't really see to many real surprises happening today so happy with today's selections and as optimistic as I will ever be. Corowa and the early money for the 1st 3 races is just OK but even so I can't really see much that can go wrong here early so I am betting with some confidence on these early races with races 4 onward's the early money is low so I would take these races on trust with some caution advised and required. Qurindi and the early money is low but I can't really see many upsets on the cards but I would simply advise to take these meetings on trust with some caution advised with races 4 onward's the early money is OK and I am feeling upbeat about the prospects for these races so there is plenty of optimism shown.

Tuesdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Warrnambool and the 1st 5 races are hurdles and there is only limited betting interest early so take these races on trust with races 6 onward's the early money is good and they do look like interesting races on paper and prices so hopeful of some decent outcome with these later races. Beaudesert and the early money for the 1st 3 races is limited so take these races on trust so hopeful but a little wary early with races 4 onward's again the early betting money is low so again take on trust with some level of careful caution advised. Armidale and the early betting interest for the 1st 3 races is limited which is not unusual for a Tuesday but in all fairness I think the favored runners offer the best chances in these early so hopeful of some good results with races 4 onward's the early money is just OK so take these races on trust. Goulburn and the early betting money for the 1st 3 races is low and these races might be best taken on trust so some caution required early with races 4 onward's the early money is moderate but on the upside I don't think there will be too many upsets in these races.

Total Cost: $13 buys a 5% share of the dividend.

Tuesdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Albury and the early money is just an OK level and on paper the meeting has potential promise but it might be wise to keep your eyes on the results to see if any betting patterns emerge. Kembla Grange and the early money is mixed but on the upside there are a lot of short priced runners which should run good races today so there is hope but I would again watch the results for patterns. Geelong and the early betting interest is again OK and this meeting should be the best today with a lot of good priced chances which should win so feeling somewhat optimistic for this program. And finally Rockhampton and the early betting is mixed with some races well supported and other not so well so I would try and use the results again as a guide so I am confident but as always cautious for Rockhampton.

Total Cost: $13 buys a 5% share of the dividend.

Tuesdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Tamworth and the early money is light but even so the meeting does look interesting and does have prospects but as always watch the results to see if any betting patterns emerge. Mackay and the early money for the 1st 4 races is light so use some caution at this meeting today as not that absolutely keen but I have been surprised before with Mackay races 5 onward's again the early money is light but they really look like 4 races which will be dominated by short priced runners so there might be prospects there. Sale and the early money for the 1st 4 races is good and I expect something solid out of these races and touch wood for luck with Sale races 5 onward's and the early money is again good so have open and positive prospects in mind.

Tuesdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Newcastle & Mornington and the early money is low which is not a real surprise considering we are returning back from a public holiday long weekend but I think that it is fair to say the Newcastle meeting should really be dominated by short priced winners, that's really what it looks like and the same can be said for Mornington for the first half of the program and then in the later half the day may open up to more value. Either way we shall see how the cards fall but I am optimistic as always.

- The Top 5 Suggested Bets below are the best bets of the day I think are of the best value and they are put there with the absolute clear intention that they will win, but if this happens or not is up to the laws of chance and the elements of luck & fate.

1. Special Suggested Bets Of The Day:

Warrnambool Race 4 Banker Exacta:

5 / 14, 11, 9

So its 5 for 1st
and 14, 11, 9 for 2nd.

2. Where The Money Is: Those runners which stand out as being well supported early.

Warrnambool Race 10 No 10 Jaws Of Steel at $3.20 and this one is not at a huge price but it has been snapped in half early in betting so I would expect it to do well today.

Final Result - Finished 1st

3. Best Longshot's Of The Day:

Warrnambool Race 9 No 13 Sweet Perfume at $11.00 and there is some support early for this one and it is 1st up from a spell so something might show fresh hopefully today.

4. Best Multi Bet Of The Day:

All bets are for the PLACE.

Race 6: 1, 13, 14, 12

Race 7: 9, 8, 7, 4
Race 8: 5, 11, 1, 3

Total Cost: $13 buys a 5% share of the dividend.

Tuesdays Predicted Betting Outlook:

Warrnambool and the 1st 3 races are hurdles and have attracted a little but not much interest in early betting so take these races on faith and then from races 4 onward's the early money is strong and it looks a mix of favorites with some value runners as well are tipped to do well today and overall I think this meeting has some real potential and time will surely tell if I am right hopefully so. Taree and the 1st 3 races look really to be dominated by favored runners with some value in the selections for the exotics Taree races 4 onward's and the early money is a little low even for a Tuesday but in what is given there does look to be value that's if the right cards fall which they may or may not do and I am hoping greatly that they do. Townsville and the early money is soft but the 1st 3 races look reasonably predictable and I doubt too much can go wrong so I hope and for races 4 onward's the early money is light actually really light so take on trust and watch the results closely to see if any betting patterns emerge.

- The Top 5 Suggested Bets below are the best bets of the day I think are of the best value and they are put there with the absolute clear intention that they will win, but if this happens or not is up to the laws of chance and the elements of luck & fate.

Race 7: 2, 3, 6, 12

Race 8: 7, 4, 10, 9

Total Cost: $13 buys a 5% share of the dividend.

Tuesdays Predicted Betting Outlook: Bendigo and there is some interest in today's meeting with the early money recorded being at a good stage but as always watch the results and move forward from there. Wagga and Lismore and the early money is a little low so use your better judgement and watch the results closely to see if any betting patterns emerge so tread a little cautiously at both these meetings. Launceston and the early betting money is fair but that is not unusual for a night meeting which does not normally happen on a Tuesday night, but nevertheless Tasmanian racing always goes well on the site so take a chance but keep a close eye on the results for any patterns to happen which may prove useful.

Tuesdays Predicted Betting Outlook: Geelong and the early money is good with a prediction for a favorites day early and then after race 5 there could be some more open results and time will tell. Rockhampton and the early money is OK so more than happy with today's lineup for this meeting and again I don't think that there will be that many upsets on the card with some value looking to be in the later races of the day. Hawkesbury and the early money is good except for race 4 where there is little interest but overall I would not expect to many outrageous results to occur at this meeting.
